

Delegate Alex Q. Askew

House District: 95th

Congressional District: 2nd and 3rd

Hon. Alex Q. Askew is a lifelong Virginia Beach resident and graduate of Tallwood High School and Hampton University. He represents the 95th District in the Virginia House of Delegates, serving on the Appropriations, Education, and Counties, Cities, and Towns Committees. In the General Assembly, he has championed expanding workers' compensation for firefighters, lead-water testing in schools, and historic funding for transit and HBCUs. Active in his community through New Jerusalem Ministries and Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity, Inc., Delegate Askew is dedicated to advancing equity, education, and opportunity for all Virginians.

Delegate Jackie Hope Glass

House District: 93rd

Congressional District: 3rd

Delegate Jackie Hope Glass hails from the Chicagoland area and is a self-proclaimed Certified Doer, balancing her roles as a dedicated mother and wife, Navy veteran, and passionate public servant. Married to a fellow sneaker enthusiast, Jackie infuses activism into her everyday life through the hashtag #AIMS (Activism In My Sole). She proudly calls Norfolk home with her husband and two children, cultivating a strong sense of community and belonging wherever she goes.

She believes women forging their own path in entrepreneurship feels like a spark igniting a bonfire-- there's this contagious, uplifting energy that spreads through the entire community. It's not just about individual success; it's about everyone rising together, building resilience, support, and unapologetic ambition that strengthens us all.
